1. The Vehicle Equipment Factory (Járműfelszerelési Gyár) at 35a Kiss Ernő Street, Rákospalota, Budapest XV, makes interior equipment (handles and ashtrays) for public transportation vehicles, locks, and window frames for railroad coaches. The factory supplies the Ikarusz Vehicle Body Factory in Budapest and the MAVAG railroad coach factory at Győr. Eight hundred and fifty workers and 150 administrative personnel are employed at the factory.
2. The Gamma Precision Instrument Works in Budapest has stopped making the Juhász antiaircraft gun and has initiated production of the P4 (Pavzo 4) antiaircraft gun. While the Juhász gun required a crew of only five men, the P4 requires a crew of eight men. The factory has been instructed to use iron or some other metal as a substitute for aluminum in making spare parts for the P4 gun.
3. The Hungarian Optical Works (Magyar Optikai Művek) makes approximately 100 optical instruments for artillery use per day. The output is sufficient to supply the Hungarian Army and to export to Czechoslovakia and Rumania. Basic raw materials used include steel, non-ferrous metals, and special glass for lenses. Most of the spare parts for instruments are received in finished form from other factories. The special glass is imported from Jena in East Germany.
